RARE ZOO BABOON CHOKED TO DEATH.

Keepers Thought It Was Not Eating From Parents.

New York, June 11 .- When the first addition by birth was made to the baboon family in the New York Zoological Park ficials were as proud of the new arrival mother. Sadje at once showed such ten-der care for her offspring that she was thought the young baboon would thrive better if fed. The experiment resulted in the animal's death yesterday. began to look as if it were not getting enough to eat, the mother constantly carrying it around in her arms and guard ing against the food the keepers put in the cage. Sadle was separated from her the cage, Sade was separated from her baby and put in an adjoining cage with Yocco, the baby occupying a cage by itself.

The arrival of the first meal time following the separation was the occasion for a vigorous protest from Sadie, who could observe the little one through the glass partitions. The more the baby seemed to enjoy the park menu the more vigorously did Sadie knock on the glass and hold up a threatening finger, as if to warn the youngster. The baby, however, seemed to be greatly improved by the change and was rapidly increasing in weight, until recently, when the keeper noticed it lying choking in its cage. A piece of banana had become lodged in its throat.

Various methods of relief were tried by the keepera, but all without result, until finally the animal was sent to the hospital quarters of the park and the doctors summoned. They succeeded in removing the banana, but, nothwithstanding the baby was tenderly cared for and fed, it died yesterday.

Sadie seems to know that something has gone wrong and sits in one corner of the cage moaning. She refuses to eat and the keepers fear that she may die of grief.

APPROVE OF BIG SEA WALL. Harbor Committee Inspects the Galveston Improvements.

Galveston, Tex., June 11.-The congressional River and Harbor Committee, head-ed by Chairman Burton, accompanied by sylvania, Davidson of Wisconsin, Bishop of Michigan, Randall of Louisiana, Burgess of Texas, Cassidy, clerk, and Mc-Garon, assistant clerk of the committee and Major H. F. Hodges, United States Engineers' Department, arrived in Galves-ton this morning on their inspection tour of river and harbor improvements of of river and harbor improvements of Texas.

Previous to coming here they had inspected the improvements of Corous Christi, Aransas Pass and Velasco. They spent a brief time here, during whwich they inspected the sea wall nearing completion for the protection of the city from the incursions of the Gulf during storms, and pronounced it a magnificent engineering feat and a grand monument to courage and enterprise of the people of Galveston.

They left for Houston on a tug via the Houston ship channel, which they will closely inspect; also the Buffalo Bayou improvement, both of which are under contract and work on which is being prosecuted vigorously.

This matter of low or high cut gowns has been rife in World's Fair society ever since the season opened. The long ride out to the grounds in the evening and the varied catertainments crowding one on the heels of another make the feminine dress problem a scrious one. A late re-ception, to be followed by a dinner, and then a ball or musicale at 9 o'clock, has hitherton necessitated a "lightning change" either at the Directors Club or else a hasty run homeward and some rapid dressing.
